

Migration Humanities Network

The Transnationalising the Humanities (TNH) research strand of the UCD Humanities Institute is pleased to announce the establishment of the Migration Humanities Network. The network seeks to not only approach migration as a diachronic, cross-cultural phenomenon, but also to explore the intersection of migration with the arts and humanities, from literature and history to visual and material culture.

Co-chaired by Tasneem Filaih and Dr Matthew Evans

You are invited to the network's launch event:

Coffee morning

Wednesday January 28th 2026

11am

Humanities Institute Seminar Room H204

All are welcome!

To sign up to the network, scan the
QR code

Engraving of "Emigrants Leaving Ireland" by Henry Doyle 1868

