Global Engagement Master's Partnership Pathway Programme

The Global Engagement Master's Partnership Pathway (GEMPP) Programmes offer students the best way to prepare for their world class UCD master's degree through a combination of academic, language, cultural, and study skills modules.

PROGRAMME SUMMARY

The GEMPP Programmes offer a one trimester programme starting in January (3.5+0.5+1) or a two trimester programme beginning in September (3+1+1). Students take English for Academic Purposes and subject-specific modules, plus options in thesis preparation, cultural studies, and creative thinking, preparing them for UCD master's programmes.

GEMPP students at UCD enjoy full access to a comprehensive suite of student support services and amenities, designed to enrich their university experience. These resources include the Career Network, which provides guidance on career planning and opportunities, the extensive University Library, and the vibrant Student Centre, home to a swimming pool, cinema, sports halls, and a variety of other amenities.

GEMPP students must meet the academic entry requirements of their chosen master's programme. Students meeting the programme's progression requirements are guaranteed admission to that master's. Progression requirements may vary by programme. All necessary credits will be transferred to students' home universities after completing the programme.

For further information on progression requirements and for a list of master's available through our GEMPP Programme, please visit www.ucd.ie/cegl/programmes/pathways/ge%20pmp/

Graduate Profile

Yiran Li, GEMPP UCD-TJUS*
Progressed to MSc Sport Management

I am a master's student majoring in Sport Management. I joined the 3+1+1 GEMPP programme in 2023 through the UCD-TJUS* collaboration. The programme's professional courses provided me with an excellent foundation and significantly helped me transition smoothly into my master's studies.

This program has been instrumental in improving my communication skills, group collaboration, and academic writing. Moreover, it has given me valuable insights into the Irish sports industry, equipping me with the knowledge and skills needed to pursue career opportunities in this field.

At present, I am planning to find a job in Ireland. The program has not only deepened my academic understanding but also enhanced my ability to adapt to and thrive in the professional sports management sector in Ireland.
