"In order for you to help in changing the world's view on gender equality you must first begin with you and your values. I believe that when we truly know who we are, nothing nor anyone can stop us. We are all equal, so lead by example, keep your head up high and stay true to your beliefs."

My name is Catherine Hearne and I am a final year veterinary nursing student. I love getting involved in college life, whether it's being part of the peer mentor programme, establishing the Veterinary Nursing Society or being engaged with other societies such as ChessSoc. My main work and study area of interest is farm animal nursing.
